

To Whom It May Concern:

Net neutrality is extremely important for me because I am a stay at home mom working from home online because I cannot afford to pay for daycare. My entry-level job that I received immediately after graduating University didn't even cover my basic bills (childcare is $750 a month for one child and I have no help). Working online is my only option at this point. I have an online store that I sell my handmade jewelry on and if I have to compete with Amazon or other large brands I cannot continue to work and will need to apply for government assistance. This will remove the even playing field and it's already difficult for small businesses to be seen online.

Please do not end net neutrality.

Thank you,

Amanda Barker
